MINING NEWS OF THE DAY.

American Capitalists Highly Enthusiastic Over Results Obtained.

A report from a reliable source has just reached us from Toronto to the effect that operations are to be resumed at the Golden Star mine. A deal is now on foot to amalgamate the Ferguson mines with the Golden Star and operate them as one concern. It is not generally known, even in Rat Portage, that during the time the Golden Star mine was milling its own ore that the sum of $45,000 was paid out to the shareholders in dividends.
Taking into consideration the small plant operated, together with the huge cost of running a mine on Seine river before the advent of the railway, the fact that any dividend was paid is remarkable.

THE FOLEY MINE.

A despatch from Houghton, Mich., to the Duluth News-Tribune says:
"The Protogene Gold Mining Company, Limited, has been chartered under the laws of Ontario by local mining men and capitalists to operate the Foley mines at Mine Centre, in the Rainy Lake district of Ontario.
These mines have been considerable producers of gold. It is hoped to resume operations next month, and as the mines have a complete equipment, including stamp mill, production can begin practically as soon as the shifts are unwaters.

VERMILLION LAKE DEAL.

The Herald of Duluth, in its issue of last Tuesday gives particulars of an option on the Kitto claim in Bad Ver-million Lake in the granite area. The item is as follows:
The purchase of an option for a lease to mining lands on Pine Island, in Vermillion Lake, by Alfred Merritt announced by The Herald some time ago, went on record in the office of the registrar of deeds Saturday morning. Mr. Merritt purchased an option running until Jan. 1, 1903, for $5,000 of which $250 is paid down and the balance is to be paid in two equal instalments in thirty and sixty days from May 20. The proposed lease carries royalty of 12½ cents and a minimum output of 50,000 tons the first year and 100,000 tons annually thereafter. The property is lots 5 and 6, section 32, 63-16; and lots 2, 3, 4, 5, 9, and 10 and the south ½ of the nw ¼ of section 5, 62-15.

The option is given by A. S. and Albert Kitto.

THE GIANT MINE.

In an interview with Mr. Paul Paulson published some time ago in The Miner we gave some particulars of a new property he had taken hold of and was developing. The claims are situated on Mosher Bay and are known as HW74, 75 and 185, and since we mentioned Mr. Paulson's taking hold of the proposition a large amount of development work in the way of sinking and cross-cutting has been done, besides surface work, including the erection of camps, etc. In the meantime also a strong corporation has been formed to operate the claims, which will be known as the Giant Gold Mining Co. of Buffalo, Ltd. The following is the personnel of the directorate:

President—W. E. Patterson.
1st Vice-President—Ed. Appleyard.
2nd Vice-President—Paul Paulson.
Secretary—N. M. Simpson.
Treasurer—M. Bellamy.
General Manager—Dan Simpson.
Most of the above are stockholders in the Big Master mine. Dan Simpson, recently superintendent of that famous property, is well known in this district and it is a matter of great satisfaction that he is again interesting himself so emphatically in the Manitou, in whose resources he has so wide a knowledge and such abundant faith.

THE GOLDEN LEDGE.

The Golden Ledge Mining Company, of Arizona, is the name of the organization which owns and will operate the IX property at Dryden. The president is H. C. Sloan, of Appleton, Wis.
J. F. Bishoff, Superior, is secretary, treasurer, and J. E. McKinnon, manager. On Tuesday last Mr. Sloan, accompanied by Mr. J. Scheuer, of the firm of Scheuer and Grieb, of Milwaukee, operators in mining investments, arrived in Dryden and made an examination of the property, returning with a collection of samples, many of which panned freely, showing a percentage of gold equal to $25 to the ton.
The Wahigton Star says Mr. Scheuer was so well satisfied with the result if the samples he takes with him indicate a satisfactory value, he will have no hesitation in taking an interest with others in the property for the purpose of its immediate development.

chief spectacular display, and in its production, besides the large amount of scenery used over 100 men representing the soldiers of the French army and Russian people, will take part.

MR. SMYTH'S ELIGIBILITY.

The despatch with reference to the election of Mr. Smyth, Conservative member for Algoma, published in last night's papers, was founded on misin-formation. It was stated that Mr.
Smyth was ineligible as a candidate because he is a postmaster of Rydal Bank. This point was settled eight years ago. Mr. Wm. Carlton, member for South Norfolk, was proceeded against in 1894 on the same ground, namely, that when elected he was postmaster of Lynedoch. Judge Osler gave judgement that the incument of such an office was not under the statute ineligible for the Legislature. Sir Oliver Mowat, to make the point perfectly clear, introduced legislation at the session of 1895, providing that "a postmaster elsewhere than in a city, town or incorporated village" was not ineligible to be a member of the Legislative Assembly. Mr. Smyth is therefore entitled to sit.—Toronto Globe.

SWEDISH LUTHERAN PICNIC.

The usual midsummer picnic under the auspices of the Swedish Evangelical Lutheran congregation, Rev. Porter, pastor, is to be given next Saturday, dren 15c. All women and the congre-gation's Sunday school children will be granted free fare to and from the picnic. Each one of the former have agreed in return to furnish a basket for the occasion. The boat will make the first trip at 7 p.m.; the second at 7:15; the third at 8:30. Returning at midnight. Refreshments and an interesting programme of sports and music have been arranged. If the weather is unfavorable the picnic will be postponed to Coronation Day, June 24th, when the afternoon will be devoted to recreative purposes on the island.

ACCIDENT TO SAWMILL.

An unfortunate accident occurred to the machinery of McLennan & Co's sawmill which will interrupt operations for a week or ten days. The machinery was just getting into running order and sawing commenced in earnest when the crank of the main shaft and cylinder head suddenly broke and brought the business to a standstill. The injured parts were immediately shipped to Woodside Bros., Port Arthur, for repairs, which will be completed in a week. The stoppage is particularly inopportune just at this time, when the company have orders for lumber several months ahead.—Wabigoon Star.

THE PUBLIC MUST BE PLEASED.

Visitors to the Winnipeg Industrial Exhibition, which takes place July 21 to July 28, will be surprised at the vast improvements to the grounds and buildings. The new grand stand is now receiving a coat of paint and the grounds are being improved to such an extent that people who have visited the show in past years will hardly know them.

The management this year is making a special feature of its speeding events and is offering $12,000 in prizes, a large sum for even the big Eastern fairs. Horses known on some of the best tracks in America are already entered to compete in the open events. Jabour's big circus will provide special attractions and novel features never before seen in western Canada. The "New Barnum," as Jabour is known in the world of showmen, has the most sensational specialist known in the realm of circus performers. This is Diavolo, the man who "loops the loop," one of the most perilous performances ever attempted by a trick bicycle rider. He apparently defies all natural laws and rides his wheel on an elevated track bent downward. "It is a feat that has startled all audiences. The "looping the loop" feature is new, and only last winter in Madison Square Gardens, New York, created a sensation that is remembered.

The fireworks this season will be the most spectacular production of pyrotechnics ever given to a western public. "The Burning of Moscow" is the Beware, boy, of the cigarette. Of ninety boy criminals confined in the Kansas City county jail in the last six months, all but two were victims of the cigarette habit. Those who stuck to the cigarette turned out badly after their discharge.

BABIES WITH

A Grateful Mother Tells How Her Little Boy Was Cured.

Mrs. A. Sauvé, Rowanston, Que., is a happy mother who thanks Baby's Own Tablets for the health of her boy. The little fellow became the prey of worms—that curse of childhood. His rosy cheeks lost their color, his little legs and arms became skinny; his eyes lost their sparkle and he became sickly and peevish. His sleep was restless and feverish, and his food seemed to do him no good. His anxious mother almost despaired of seeing him back again in good health. However, she heard of Baby's Own Tablets, and gave them to her child, and now she says:—"The Tablets made a wonderful change in my little boy. All signs of worms have disappeared, and he is now in the best of health. I can honestly say that Baby's Own Tablets have no equal as a cure for worms."

Baby's Own Tablets are a certain cure for all the minor ailments of little ones, such as constipation, colic, sour stomach, indigestion, diarrhoea, simple fever, and the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth. Guaranteed to contain none of the poisonous opiates found in the so-called "soothing" medicines. They are for children of all ages, and dissolved in water can be given with absolute safety to a new-born babe. Sold by druggists at 25c a box or sent post paid on receipt of price, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GIVE THE LAUREATE A CHANCE.

When the office of poet laureate, or that of the royal minstrel, were in flower, there were knights in armor, and mischief, whose deeds were worth singing about. When "came a knight in armor bright singing merrily his lay" upon another knight similarly engaged, neither one of them having any definite destination in mind, there would be a scrap on sight. These two geists might probably never have met before, and had no grudge against each other, but they would fight while the sun was high in the heavens, and until it sank behind the blue hills in the west. They would "brast" their lances, and then draw their two-handed brands, as keen as Koko's awful snicker-snee, and slash at each other's hardihoods until one of them was so "sore distressed," and generally played out that he would fall from his horse. Remounting and skipping for the woods was out of the question, as it would require a derrick to lift that mass of steel and man upon his horse again, and so the would "yield him" and flatter the victor, by praising his mighty arm. The victorious knight would then command the vanquished one to ride to court and throw himself upon the mercy of the queen. Her majesty would of course be graciously pleased to pardon the battered knight, though what offence he had committed by defending himself against another professional brawler is not plain to the modern intelligence. However, as all parties were apparently satisfied it all becomes us at this late stage to take up expense for tribute, and so we will allow the matter to slide, but in justice to the Jomah in the hardware pants we must mention the fact that he would faithfully perform the penance he did upon him for the crime of allowing himself to be lured, and would repair at once to the shanty of a soapless mat once, where he would say innumerable prayers and stand on one leg for three days without being allowed to succumb to the breeze during the whole period.

Which brought back to the royal minstrel and poet laureate, "Anna virescens." He would beaming of the doughty deeds of knights errant, and laboriously work in a little court room here and there to jolly the folks up, and make him think he is getting the worth of his money.

But what about Alfred Austin? He's got to sing about knights who figure as directors of joint stock companies—mining ventures, and brewery syndicates, and so on.

Expensive Smoking.

Some men smoke a pipe for the sake of economy, because they can't afford a good cigar, and other men indulge in the pipe and briar because they claim it is the only way to get the full enjoyment out of tobacco. The question of economy doesn't enter into the scheme of the latter class.

A Walnut street manufacturer of Turkish cigarettes sells at $1.50 a pound a considerable quantity of imported tobacco. His customers are connoisseurs, and they are men who can afford to pay this exorbitant price, and say the goods are worth it. Some of them, to be sure, make it last long by mixing it with Virginia long cut, for the Turkish tobacco is exceedingly pungent, and a little of it will do an equal quantity of the cheaper weed. A novice who was pricing this tobacco expressed some surprise that it should be so expensive.

"That isn't expensive," replied the tobacconist. "There are Turkish tobaccos that, with the duty added, would cost as much as $50 a pound in this country."

Sir Boyle Roche's Famous "Balls."

Sir Boyle Roche, too, whose bulls made him famous, on one occasion assured a wonder-stricken body of voters that if elected he would put a stop to smuggling practices in the Shannon by "howling" two frigates stationed on the opposite points of the mouth of the river, and there they should remain fixed, with strict orders not to stir, and so by circling and cruising about they would be able to intercept everything that should attempt to pass between them.

Another time when on the hustings he observed, "England, it must be allowed, is the mother country, and therefore I would advise them (England and Ireland) to live in filial affection together like sisters, as they are and ought to be." This was only equalled by his, when opposing his anti-militarist motion, wishing the said motion was at the bottom of the bottomless pit.

Bedlam.

How many people use the expression, "a regular Bedlam" without knowing Bedlam's "where or what" Bedlam was the popular corruption of Bethlehem, the name of an insane asylum in London, first established in 1523. Owing to the prevalent ignorance of that age, it was a place of chains and manacles and stocks and finally became so filthy and loathsome that no man could enter it. It was rebuilt several times, but even as late as 1812 the institution was marked by its cruelty to inmates. The poor lunatics were chained and flogged at certain stages of the moon's age. Treacherous doors were arranged that, slipping suddenly, precipitated the unsuspecting ones into "baths of surprise."

The Defendant's Pleading.

In a rural district in the west of England there lived an eccentric old farmer who was continually appearing before the magistrates for allowing his cattle to stray on the highway.

During the hearing of his case for a similar offense upon the last occasion he elicited much laughter from the presiding "gentlemen on the bench" and others.

The chairman, addressing the defendant, asked:

"Do you plead guilty or not guilty?"

Catching Cod.

Once begun codfishing on the Banks is incessant, and when the fishing is good the men rarely ever sleep. Awakened at 2 a. m. to fill their bait "kicks," or tubs, they start at daybreak to lift these trawls and remove the overnight catch, rebaiting the hooks again. There are about 3,000 hooks to handle, and this often occupies until eventide, when the boats row back. After unloading the deck is piled high with the glittering mass of fish. To eviscerate this and stow it in the hold keeps them until midnight, when they snatch an hour or two of sleep.

Some can go without sleep for a week. Others will rub wet tobacco in their eyes so that the pain may keep them wakeful a few hours longer. Others again will work till they drop from sheer exhaustion and sleep as they lie until aroused by comrades. A Chinese torture is to keep men without sleep, and "bunking" does this to an extent to satisfy even the most exacting Celestial. The men sleep in their underclothing. When above decks, they can never leave off their oilskins, for on the Banks it is rarely fine. Mist and muck prevail, and the rigging and sails drip water all day.

A Clerical Pan.

On one occasion at Athy, where Canon Staveland, the English divine, was then stationed, he was visited by the archbishop, whom he induced to visit a new coffee house which had just been opened in the interests of temperance. Naturally the distinguished guest was served with a saucy cup of coffee. He tasted it, while Canon Bagot and the manager waited in complacent expectancy of commendation.

They were disappointed. The cup was hastily set aside by the bishop, who ejaculated, with prolonged and unmistakable emphasis:

"A-bom-in-able!" Then the manager suddenly remembered. "Oh, your grace," he explained, "a box of matches fell into the coffee tank this morning, and I did not think it right to waste all the contents of it." "If your grace will come again," promised Canon Bagot, interposing quickly, "I faithfully promise you a matchless cup of coffee."

The Ingredients of Fireworks.

The chief constituents of all fireworks are gunpowder and its ingredients. Iron and steel filings and cast iron borings, free from rust, are used to increase the brightness of the display and produce the Chinese fire. When the rocket explodes up in the air, the bright and varicolored sparks are produced by these filings, as they ignite in the oxygen.

Copper filings and copper salts are used to produce greenish tints. A fine blue is made with zinc filings. A light greenish tint with much smoke is made out of sulphur of antimony. Amber, resin and common salt protected from dampness produce a yellow fire. Salts of strontia make a red light. A green light is also made by the salts of barium.

Deserted at the End

William the Conqueror was a man of very gross habit of body and at the siege of Mantes was hurt by the rear of his horse, the pommel of the saddle striking the king in the abdomen and causing injuries from which he died in a few days. Before his

EIGHT POUNDS!

Eight pounds of love and laughter, of smiles and sunshine or—? Many a mother can fill up the blank out of her experience of puffy, wailing children, whose coming brought no gladness to the home. Women who have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription know that it makes all the difference between happy, healthy motherhood, and motherhood of murmuring and misery. And they know also, that happy, healthy mothers have happy, healthy children. "Favorite Prescription" strengthens the whole body for the strain of motherhood. It practically does away with the pains of childbirth, gives the mother abundant vitality and enables her to nurse a healthy child.

The "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, chloral nor any other narcotic.

"I am mother of six children," writes Mrs. C. A. Briggs, of Milwood, Douglas Co., Oregon, "and always took three or four bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' before confinement, and never suffered any to speak of. I had no after pains; my babies were large—they all weighed more than eight pounds. I am not a larger woman; weigh about six pounds. I have had some stomach trouble, but a few doses of 'Golden Medical Discovery' would cure me all right. I am hardly ever without your medicines. They are all the medicine one needs if taken in time, to keep one in perfect health."

"I feel that I owe my little boy's life to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, as he had convulsions and everything he ate would bring them on. I commenced to give him the 'Golden Medical Discovery' in tradition does three times a day. Now he is just as healthy a child as can be found and he grows like a weed."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best laxative for women.

Nervous Depression and Bodily Weakness

Another Woman Who Has Found Health, Strength and Vigor in the Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

To women especially Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is proving to be a very great blessing. So many women are weakened and debilitated by overwork, worries or diseases peculiar to their sex, and need the assistance of just such a restorative as this great food cure.

Mrs. M. A. McCrean, Tory Hill, Ont., writes:—"My system was all run down when I began to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I was weak and very nervous and felt so tired and worn out that I could scarcely drag myself about the house. It seemed impossible for me to get rest or sleep at night, and I felt that I was gradually growing weaker and more nervous and irritable. Since beginning the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I feel altogether different. It has gradually strengthened my nerves and built up my system wonderfully. I sleep well now, and am being thoroughly restored to health and strength. I give it to the best medicine to be found for the nerve."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, or for $2.50, at all dealers, or by mail, 110 E. 10th St., Toronto.

could faithfully perform the penance laid upon him for the crime of allowing himself to be killed, and would repair at once to the shanty of a soapless saint, where he would say innumerable prayers and stand on one leg for three days, without being allowed ten seconds off to sneeze during the whole period.

Which brings us back to the royal minstrel and poet laureate. "Arma virumque cano," He would brag of the doughty deeds of knights errant, and heroically work in a little court here and there to jolly the king along, and make him think he was eating the worth of his money.

But what about Alfred Austin? He's got to sing about knights who figure as directors of joint stock companies—mining ventures and brewery syndicates; earls who marry Chicago pork packers's daughters; barons who own street railways; and a king who wears a plug hat, or rides from Aldershot to Windsor in an automobile!

And, if there are people who are not satisfied with Austin's offerings, what do you think of his difficulties, and give the poor fellow a show. He's up against it good and hard, and it isn't fair to kick a man when he's down. Who can write an epyllion to the king with an automobile and goggles for a theme?

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Great Britain is called the "right little isle" because she annually brews 1,000,000,000 gallons of beer, which equals the entire amount brewed by France, America and the United States.

The Indians of the Transvaal picked like stars last night. One Paul's unjust tax of 5 per cent on the output of the mines, and the pro-Briters claim that this was the cause of the war. It's really a tax on the franchise being a mere bluff. The tax will now be doubled by Great Britain, but nobody's kicking. Perhaps there was something in that bluff very after all.

It is rumored that another ferry will make it across at an early date. Up to now, the only way to press over has only been able to find out the two who are at present operating. Capt. Lewis and Capt. Brown.

The American is a sensation, and the more it is seen, the better it suits them. He was charged with being a coward, and he stood his ground on that. So far, Dewey was found out and lampooned in the same year; General Miles was court-martialed, and last but not least, the historians are beginning to put Washington along with Franklin, Jefferson, Madison, Adams and Lincoln in the non-Christian class. "Ministers of the gospel and contemporaries with Washington on all states unequivocally in their memoirs that General Washington was not a Christian. The Americans will discover now that Mark Hanna and J. P. Morgan are not Christians.

flour and leavenings that no man could enter it. It was rebuilt several times, but even as late as 1812 the institution was marked by its cruelty to inmates. The poor lunatics were chained and flogged at certain stages of the moon's age. Treacherous doors were arranged that, slipping suddenly, precipitated the unsuspecting ones into "baths of surprise."

The Defendants' Pleading.

In a rural district in the west of England there lived an eccentric old farmer who was continually appearing before the magistrates for allowing his cattle to stray on the highway. During the hearing of his case for a similar offense upon the last occasion he elicited much laughter from the presiding "gentlemen on the bench" and others.

The chairman, addressing the defendant, asked: "Do you plead guilty or not guilty?" "Well, yer 'onor, I expects as I be guilty. But don't be too hard on a regular customer."

John Randolph.

The most flagrant bit of diplomatic jobbery in the history of the United States was perpetrated by that Virginia sage, John Randolph of Roanoke. Randolph was appointed minister to Russia in 1820. He sailed for his post in June of that year, but remained there only ten days, and then departed suddenly for England, where he raised high heels for nearly a year, after which he returned home in October, 1821, he drew $31,407 from the treasury, which he paid off some of his old private debts.

John's Blunder.

A minister in Scotland who was making a call the other week upon a member of his flock whom he had not seen at church for some time asked, "What's come over you that I don't see you at church?"

"If it's you, ye'll no' ha' seen me bein' in the pillar."

"What's that?" "Good gracious, the pillar is twenty years since it's been put in the front of your seat."

Men With Memories.

Seneca the Wise could repeat 2,000 words in the uninterrupted succession in which they were read to him! The greatest Roman orator before Cicero, Hortensius, could recite all the prices given in a public auction. The Stoics, who considered it a greater art to forget than to remember, learned the Persian language inside of a year.

The White House Mistress.

There is probably no situation easier to fill than that of the wife of the president of the United States. She has a set of simple official duties as hostess of the White House to perform. If she is fit or feels unable to perform them, she is readily excused.

The Responsible One.

"Who is the responsible man in this firm?" asked the brusque visitor. "I don't know who the responsible party is," answered the and, cynical of the way, "but I am the one who is always to blame."

The Paraguay river, so called from the republic of the same name at its banks, is 1,800 miles in length. At points in its lower course it is from five to fifteen miles wide.

increase the brightness of the display and produce the Chinese fire. When the rocket explodes up in the air, the bright and varicolored sparks are produced by these filings, as they ignite in the oxygen.

Copper filings and copper salts are used to produce greenish tints. A fine blue is made with zinc filings. A light greenish tint with much smoke is made out of sulphuret of antimony. Amber, resin and common salt protected from dampness produce a yellow fire. Salts of strontia make a red light. A green light is also made by the salts of barium.

Deserted at the End.

William the Conqueror was a man of very gross habit of body and at the siege of Mantes was hurt by the rearing of his horse, the pommel of the saddle striking the king in the abdomen and causing injuries from which he died in a few days. Before his death he was deserted by all his attendants, who stole and carried off even the coverings of the bed on which he lay. The body remained on the floor of the room in which the king died for two days before it was buried by charitable monks from a neighboring monastery.

Typographical Errors.

American authors, no less than English, sometimes suffer for the sins of the printer. A line of Mr. Aldrich's which originally read "A potent medicine for gods and men" was misprinted "A patent medicine," etc. And Mr. Aldrich's exclamation was upset on another occasion because in a serious mood he wrote in one of his poems "Now the old wounds break out afresh" and was horrified to read that he had said "Now the old woman breaks out afresh."

Replanting the Seeds.

Nubbles (shouting across the garden fence to his next door neighbor—Hil, there!) What are you burying in that hole?

Neighbor—Oh, I'm just replanting some of my garden seeds.

Nubbles—Garden seeds, eh? Looks to me very much like one of my lars.

Neighbor—That's all right. The seeds are inside her.

A King's Miserable End.

Louis XI, after having by open murder or secret assassination rid himself of the most powerful nobility of France, died in miserable fear, begging his physician to do something for him. During his last days he sent for St. Francis of Paula and offered him untold riches to intercede with heaven for a further lease of life.

She Paid.

"Dollar on a half for a marriage license" exclaimed the colored applicant. Then, turning to the bride to be, "Lindy, does you think I is worth it?" "Well," was the reply, "it do come mighty high, but I reckon 'it better pay it, 'long ez I done come back wid you."

Thanks to the Apple, She's Clothed.

Tem— I desire apples, don't you? Jess— Oh, no. Every time I put on a nice new gown I'm thankful that there was an apple for Eve to eat.

More Work Than Play.

"Does she play whist?" "No. She makes the worst word of it you ever saw."

Selling Cigar Stubs is a Lucrative Business in Naples.

Buying and selling cigar stubs is a large and lucrative business in the city of Naples, and many persons are engaged in it. Some of them have little stalls or shops near the docks, the arsenals and the manufacturing establishments where workmen are in the habit of passing to and from their tasks. Others, with less capital, have little stands at street corners, a board laid across a saw horse, upon which their stock in trade is displayed, while the petty dealers in this line of business exhibit their stock in little piles upon the sidewalk, sometimes not even a newspaper being under them.

The supply comes from the cafes, restaurants, hotels and other public places. Men and women pick over the garbage heaps and the dust boxes, and boys run up and down the pavements in front of the hotels early every morning looking for "shipes." Some of the restaurant and cafe keepers sell the privilege of picking up the cigar stumps in their places to dealers, and the proceeds amount to a considerable sum during the year. In other places it is one of the perquisites of the head waiter.

Some of the stubs are taken to factories, where they are cut up and manufactured into cigarettes and smoking tobacco, but the greater part of them are sold to the lower classes of workingmen, sailors and dock wallipers, who smoke them in their pipes. At the entrance of the navy yard, which is upon one of the most frequented streets in Naples and in a very conspicuous place, half a dozen of these secondhand cigar dealers can be found when the men are coming out of the gates at the close of their day's work.
The employees are not allowed to smoke inside, and their wages do not permit them to indulge in the luxury of cigars or even smoking tobacco at first hand, so, for a centesimo, which is the smallest coin imaginable—one fifth of 1 cent—they buy a cigar stub, crumble it up in their hands and cram it into their pipes.

Queer Freaks of Flowers.

"Why is it?" complained the man with a grudge to a restaurant keeper yesterday, "that you fellows hardly ever have any flowers in your old joints?"

The hash founder looked up. "Flowers won't live in restaurants," he said.
"The smoke and odor of the cooking seems to smother them, and they never thrive. I've tried it dozens of times, and always with the same result. Put flowers in a saloon, though, and they grow and bloom in splendid shape. The tobacco smoke, I suppose, serves as a fumigator, and the fumes of the liquor apparently stimulate them. If you want to make a success of flowers, put them in a groshop. To stunt or kill them a restaurant is the best ever."

Dogs in Patagonia.

In northern Patagonia a reward is offered for the extermination of the dogs that overrun that part of the world. The ancestors of these wild dogs were a pair of tame colliers which were taken over by a Scotsman straight

AN UNFAMILIAR TEXT.

But It Was a Foreboding Illustration of a Great Truth.

Several years ago there labored in one of the western villages of Minnesota a preacher who was always in the habit of selecting his texts from the Old Testament and particularly some portion of the history of Noah. No matter what the occasion was, he would always find some parallel incident from the history of this great character that would readily serve as a text or illustration.

At one time he was called upon to unite the daughter of the village mayor and a prominent attorney in the holy bonds of matrimony. Two little boys, knowing his determination to give them a portion of the sacred history touching Noah's marriage, hit upon the novel idea of pasting together two leaves in the family Bible so as to connect, without any apparent break, the marriage of Noah and the description of the ark of the covenant.

When the noted guests were all assembled and the contracting parties with attendants in their respective stations, the preacher began the ceremonies by reading the following text:
"And when Noah was one hundred and forty years old he took unto himself a wife," then, turning the page, he continued, "300 cubits in length, 50 cubits in width and 30 cubits in depth and within and without besmeared with pitch." The story seemed a little strong, but he could not doubt the Bible, and, after reading it once more and reflecting a moment, he turned to the startled assemblage with these remarks, "My beloved brethren, this is the first time in the history of my life that my attention has been called to this important passage of the Scriptures, but it seems to me that it is one of the most forcible illustrations of that grand eternal truth that the nature of woman is exceedingly difficult to comprehend.

Value of Time.

The value of odd minutes is illustrated by a story told in a curious little volume of advice printed in England. A large firm required a manager for one of its departments and appointed 12 o'clock for arrangement of terms with the selected applicant. He arrived at five minutes past 12, to find a dozen directors waiting, the chairman watch in hand. The chairman announced that they could not engage a subordinate who had wasted an hour of his employers' time, and on the applicant deprecating such exaggeration the chairman explained that each director had wasted five minutes and that made an hour in all.

Dickens Said She Was a Woman.

It is said of George Eliot's literary style that its most marked characteristic is sympathy. And long before her identity had become known Charles Dickens, a singularly acute critic of his own art, detected her sex by this undercurrent of womanly sympathy.
He had been reading "Scenes of Clerical Life," which had been sent to him by the publisher, and on putting the book aside he said, "Well, this writer possesses great ability, but I should say, despite the name, that George Eliot is a woman."

DANGERS AND PERILS AHEAD.

Paine's Celery Compound

Purifies the Blood, Fortifies the System and Provides That Vigorous Health that Resists Disease in the Hot Weather.

The deadly danger of the hot weather will be the weak, nervous, and the down, rheumatic, neuralgic, and the burdened with diseases resulting from impure and stagnant blood will be sure victims of enervating weather; they will be the first to be laid low by pestilences and epidemics.

Are you, dear reader, properly fortified in health and strength to meet the coming perils and dangers of the heated term? If not make preparation at once for banishing that ever a potent live source of danger in July and August.

If Paine's Celery Compound be used at once it will give pure, fresh blood, strong nerves, new strength and vitality and an increase in firm flesh and muscle. If you are weak, ailing, sluggish and discouraged...

Batoche Recalled.

In 1885 there was a little rebellion in the Canadian Northwest. A force of Canadian militia, commanded by Gen. Middleton, of the regular British army, hemmed Batoche and his half-breeds and Indians up in the little hamlet of Batoche. Then Gen. Middleton signed for a regiment of regular British troops. He was afraid to let the "raw Canadians" go in and do up the enemy as they proposed. They begged to be permitted to end the daily skirmishing by a charge but Middleton knew that "raw troops" could not be depended upon; he knew that the result would be panic and disaster, and he proposed to remain in front of Batoche, besiege it, to shell it, and to leave the half-breeds in submission. Finally, one fine day, the Canadians, tired of the sniping and snarlery, went in on their own account, without the knowledge, or permission of the "raw troops." The battle was over in a few minutes, Batoche was captured, and the enemy was killed, captured, dispersed. They say that old Middleton put up a fine brand of watchful indignation when he discovered that the "raw troops" had proved to be so handy. "Raw Canadian" was too strong, but he finally concluded not to count much about his name, and the incident is now a part of the "Batoche Spectacle."

charge but Middleton knew that "raw troops" could not be depended upon; he knew that the result would be panic and disaster, and he proposed to remain in front of Batoche, to besiege it, to shell it, and to starve the halfbreeds into submission. Finally, one fine day, the Canadians, tired of the sniping and tomfoolery, went in on their own account, without the knowledge or permission of the wise old regular general. The battle was over in a few minutes. Batoche was captured, and the enemy was killed, captured, or dispersed. They say that old Middleton put up a fine brand of wrathful indignation when he discovered that the Canucks had proved that he didn't know his business, as far as handling "raw Canadian troops" was concerned; but he finally concluded not to court-martial and shoot his army, and the incident passed, says the Hamilton Spectator.

A Legend of Sir John.

Of course legend has been busy with the capitals of the Parliament Buildings at Ottawa, as it has been with nearly every notable event round the House of Commons. Now we have not passed the stage of putting all the good things down to Sir John Macdonald. In this case legend has connected Sir John with a squirrel, a leaping squirrel, evidently in a tremendous hurry. Just remember that a legend is a lie old enough to be respectable. The story goes this way. An applicant for a place came down to Ottawa on a promise from some one in authority. He saw Sir John, who promised it all over again. Months went by, and the promise failed to bear fruit. But one day the discouraged applicant met the Premier face to face in the vestibule. "You haven't done anything for me yet," he said.

"Too bad," said the great chief-tain, scratching his head. "Now, what can I do for you? Ah, I have it! You see that squirrel there?"

"I do."

"Well, just you watch to see that it doesn't get away."

A Honeymoon Flanquer.

Judge Edwards of Len county, who has married over a hundred couples since he has been ordinary, performed the ceremony recently for a runaway couple seated in a buggy in the public road.

The ceremony over, the bridegroom fumbled in his pocket and fished up 30 cents.

"Judge," he said, "this here's all the money I got in the run' round. If you're a mind to take it, you kin, but I'll say straightfor'ds that I'd done so it aside fer the honeymoon expenses!"

Disappointed.

"So you advise me not to sue?" said the client.

"I do," said the lawyer.

"Well," returned the disappointed client, "it seems strange that when a man pays for advice he can't get the kind he wants."

Morale.

Gladys—Why did she ever marry him?

Ethel—Oh, he said he couldn't live without her!

Gladys—Well, she ought to get a medal for life saving.
